ABOUT THE SHOW

The International Food Exhibition (IFEX) Philippines is the biggest and most respected export-oriented food show in the Philippines. This trade event showcases Asia's best ethnic and specialty food; tropical fruits and vegetables; fresh seafood; Halal-certified commodities; and natural, organic and functional food products.

Organized by the Center for International Trade Expositions and Missions (CITEM), the export promotion arm of the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI), in partnership with the Department of Agriculture-Agribusiness Marketing Assistance Service (DA-AMAS), IFEX Philippines provides a venue for local and international food companies to take on new markets, launch products, and conduct business with the world's biggest buyers.

THE PHILIPPINES AND FOOD PHILIPPINES

The Philippines has established itself as one of the world's most robust and promising markets.

Since 2010, the Philippines has been one of the fastest-rising global economies in terms of gross domestic product (GDP). In 2016, the country grew by 7.1 percent in its 3rd quarter, recording the highest in Asia. The Philippines is seen to expand more than 6 percent until 2018 to rank among the fastest-growing in the world, according to Bloomberg.

A backbone of this major breakthrough is the country's manufacturing industry, contributing around 23-24% of the annual GDP. One of its primary sectors is food, which accounts for nearly half of the country's total manufacturing output. As of 2016, the Philippines' food manufacturing growth remains the second fastest in Southeast Asia. Labor productivity also recorded a significant increase by as high as 6% in 2015.

Another economic driver is the surge of micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs) that are becoming more globally competitive in exploring new market innovations, technologies, and products. As of 2015, the Philippines has 896,839 MSMEs, according to the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA).

With its rich agriculture industry, the Philippines is also known as the top global exporter of premium fruits and other food products, including banana, cacao, coconut, coffee, mango, pineapple, and tuna.

Such bright prospects attract key players and decision makers from the international food market to source from the Philippines. In IFEX Philippines, top global buyers include Sysco, Carrefour, Takashimaya, Gandamar, Woolworths, Lulu Supermarkets, Met Foodmarkets, Emke Group, Americana, and E-mart among others.

Take advantage of this development in IFEX Philippines—the country's biggest export trade platform for food and ingredients.
